TOWN OF SCHUYLER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Schuyler ChroniclesIssue # 9 - March 2025

Since it's March it's time to think GREEN. Nooo...not shamrocks or leprechauns. This month's TOSHS topic is S&H Green Stamps. Do you know what the S&H stands for (and don't Google it!)? I'll give you the answer at the end of this article.

For those of you reading this who are from a younger generation, S&H Green Stamps were given to the retail shopper upon checkout at the cash register. They were distributed at participating stores and gas stations. The number of stamps you were given depended on how much you spent. The shopper then went home and licked the backs of the stamps and stuck them in the S&H Savings Book. Each book had 24 pages and the filled book was worth 1200 points. Then you would peruse the Rewards Catalog. The catalogs had hundreds of items in them from housewares, small appliances, and health and beauty items such as hair dryers (the kind with a hose and a plastic hood to put over your wet hair wrapped around the large pink plastic rollers using Dippity Do. Remember?). Each item in the book had an assigned number of filled books that it took to obtain the item. When you saved the required number of books for the item(s) you chose, you would rubber band them together and take them to the local redemption center to pick up your merchandise.

Interesting fact: During the 1960's S&H issued more stamps than the US Postal Service and gave out more than 35 million Rewards Catalogs a year.

I remember that my family would sit down at the kitchen table and lick the stamps. Our tongues would get pasty after licking a few dozen. If we had a lot to do, we filled a bowl with water and moistened the backs of the stamps with a wet sponge then secured them into place in the books. You had to wait until they dried before closing the book because if the book was closed when the stamps were still moist, the pages would stick together and the books could not be redeemed for full value unless the pages could be counted individually. One item that was redeemed with our stacks of books was a set of four 'leatherette' foot stools with a floral design embossed on the top. The legs were mid-century tapered with a gold band on the bottom. The colors were a mustard yellow, brick red, ecru, and avocado (picture Brady Bunch refrigerator). Mom had them lined up against the wall in the living room next to the couch. They were used often and were quite sturdy but when you have three kids, a mom, a dad, and an aunt in your home something is bound to break... and it did. The ecru foot stool lost a leg so Mom put it away in a closet because you never know when you'll need a three-legged foot stool. I discovered it decades later and smiled.

In 1972 S&H Green Stamps was sold and after several more sales, the new owner changed the name of the program to GreenPoints then it was sold again. The new company stated that the GreenPoint stamps no longer had a value and could not be redeemed, however the Greenpoint value itself could be transferred to their new redemption program called Freshpoints. It was sold in 2013 to Prologics Redemption Solutions, a company which creates private label retail rewards systems.

The value of those S&H (Sperry and Hutchinson) Green Stamps may not be worth anything today, but the trip down memory lane will always be worth something.

Respectfully submitted for your reading enjoyment,
Christine Proulx, Recording Secretary TOS Historical Society
